9. Historical significance (include explanation of themes checked above)

19 Elm Street constitutes the only documented residence designed by Richard Upjohn in Taunton. It was built in 1852-53 for W.W. Fairbanks. Its major local significance, however, arises from its link with its subsequent owners-Abiathar King Williams, a textile manufacturer and businessman descended from early Weir Village captain Abiathar Williams, who lived here from 1865-1890, and Edward Lovering, president of Whittefton Mills, who resided in it from 1910-1940.

Description: The Italianate structure is arranged in a formal T-shaped plan with a boldly projecting central pavilion. Entrances, with double-leaved doors and set in segmental-arched surrounds, flank the central pavilion and are shielded by porches that are defined by an arcade of stilted segmental arches set on posts. Regularly-spaced 6/6 sash windows are set under peaked, pedimented hoods mounted on feet. The intersecting gable roof is introduced by a box cornice set with large blocks. The structure is crowned by a central cupola lit by round-arched windows interspersed with engaged columnettes.

The Fairbanks-Williams House possesses integrity of location, design, setting, materials, workmanship and association. It meets criteria B and C of the National Register of Historic Places as a carefully detailed and finely crafted house designed in the Italianate style by nationally renowned architect Richard Upjohn⁺ for its historical association with 2 locally prominent industrialists from mid 19th to mid 20th century.
