9. Historical significance (include explanation of themes checked above)

One of two fire stations in Taunton designed by the City's second fire chief, Abner Coleman, this minimally changed structure is a fine example of a municipal building executed in the Queen Anne style.

Built in 1888 by builder, James T. Bassett, it is similar in design to the Weir Fire Station (also designed by Coleman), and to the East Taunton Fire Station on Middleboro Ave.

Description: The square main block of the structure is 2½ stories and has a hipped roof. The facade is occupied by three large segmental-arched engine bays. A central wall dormer that is contiguous with the building's second story windows features a shingled wall treatment, and large, 3-part round-arched central window. A smaller, 2-story hip-roofed dependency houses the police station, and a hose-drying tower is engaged to the rear.

The Whittenton Fire & Police Station possesses integrity of location, design, setting, materials, workmanship and association. It meets criteria A and C of the National Register of Historic Places as one of two notable Queen Anne style influenced firehouses (see #296) designed by Taunton's second fire chief, Abner Coleman and built to serve dense residential/commercial neighborhoods during a period of concerted municipal advancement of the end of the 19th Century.
