NATIONAL REGISTER CRITERIA STATEMENT (if applicable)

The Gifford Farm possesses integrity of location, design, setting, workmanship, feeling and association. It is significant for its associations with Marstons Mills 19th and 20th agricultural history, and as a 20th century village gathering place. It is also significant as an unusual Greek Revival style double house. The property thus meets criteria A and C of the National Register of Historic Places.

ARCHITECTURAL SIGNIFICANCE Describe important architectural features and evaluate in terms of other buildings within the community.

The Gifford Farm is an interesting and unusual example of the Greek Revival style in Barnstable. It is a full cottage rising 1 1/2 stories to a gable roof; rather than the traditional five bay facade, however, it is a double house with twin entries centered between pairs of windows. It is trimmed with wide cornerboards and a full entablature running beneath the eaves. It is distinguished by a central facade gable and a one story Doric porch. Windows contain 6/6 sash. Despite siding, the house retains all of its important features.

HISTORICAL SIGNIFICANCE Explain the role owners played in local or state history and how the building relates to the development of the community.

Chipman Hinckley assembled a large land holding in Marstons Mills between 1800-1840. It is believed that he built the present house c. 1850. When Chipman died in 1858, his estate went to his son Russell. The property remained in the Hinckley family until 1882, when it was purchased by Sylvanus Bourne. The estate at that time was described as a homestead, outbuildings and 200 acres. Sylvanus died in 1887 and in 1890, Caroline Bodge purchased it from his heirs. From Caroline, it went to Louis Kleinschmidt in 1898, and then to Lorenzo Gifford in 1919. It was at this time that it achieved its greatest historical significance. Lorenzo developed a large dairy herd with attendant milk route, a slaughterhouse and a smoke house. This remained, until the mid-20th century, as Marstons Mills last working farm. Additionally, from 1926-1941, Mrs. Gifford served as post mistress, with facilities in a building on the premises, making it a village social center in the early-mid 20th century.
